

Are you ready for a learning tech transformation?

Learning tech transformation is daunting. Implementing for the first time, consolidating systems, switching from tech that isn't working—no transformation is easy. That's why it's important to be prepared. Here's a simple 12-question guide to determine if your organization is ready.

START

Congratulations! You are ready to take on a learning tech transformation.

This handy guide is brought to you by NilesNolen and Schoox.

NilesNolen is a global agency providing bespoke advisory services on EdTech transformations and Skills-Based Organizational development to enterprise leaders around the world. Learn more at nilesnolen.com.

Schoox is workplace learning software with a people-first twist. People aren't cogs, and Schoox was designed for how humans actually learn. We keep learners curious by letting you deliver more kinds of content wherever they are, from the front line to the corporate office. And by making learning easy, accessible, rewarding, and fun, we help you get everyone more excited about their career development. Learners can "up" their skills, grow on the job, and get more done—and you can measure the impact of their awesome accomplishments. Schoox powers people-focused learning experiences for organizations around the world, including Subway, Celebrity Cruises, Phillips 66, and Sonesta Hotels. Learn more at schoox.com.

schoox

Learning wherever work happens

schoox.com