

Leap into Workplace Learning at Altitude Trampoline Park

Industry: Entertainment

Learners: 2,000

Altitude Trampoline Park (ATP) is an entertainment center perfect for families with young children and active lifestyles. Each park features thousands of square feet of indoor trampolines and other activities, from dodgeball to basketball and air bags, to delight and excite their guests— typically children ages three to twelve. Headquartered in Dallas, the company has 81 locations globally.

“Now that we’ve built out our metrics, we’ll be able to see how training is translating into membership sales, guest satisfaction, and incident reduction.”

Gina Elliott
Senior Director of Learning & Development

Customer Snapshot: Altitude Trampoline Park

- ➔ Learning for teams on the go
ATP now has a feature-rich native mobile app powerful enough to replace desktop learning.
- ➔ Real-time on-the-job training
General managers assess employee skills and performance at the job site rather than online.
- ➔ Improved learning outcomes
Schoox delivers in-depth training data that goes beyond completion rates and assessment scores.
- ➔ A better experience for all users
Schoox engages learners, is easy for users to navigate, and intuitive for administrators to manage.
- ➔ Effective compliance management
Staff acknowledge procedures and complete training on safety protocols required per park.
- ➔ Metrics that matter
Schoox tracks changes in employee skill levels, progress toward organizational goals, and overall business impact.

“The features of the Schoox mobile app, and the mobility it offers our team members in general, was a key reason we selected Schoox.”

Gina Elliott
Senior Director of Learning & Development
