INDUSTRIES

Amsted Industries is a diversified global manufacturer of industrial components serving primarily the railroad, automotive, commercial vehicle, and construction markets.

As a 100% employee-owned company, Amsted fosters a spirit of ownership across its businesses, empowering every team member to learn, grow, advance their careers, and make a meaningful impact on the organization.

Amsted's decentralized structure empowers four business entities to set their own priorities and make independent decisions, allowing flexibility in diverse markets.

With its focus on digital transformation and employee experience, Amsted is building a powerhouse learning and development (L&D) strategy.

By synchronizing its integrated HR tech solutions with business goals, Amsted is ready to level up talent management, stay ahead of future workforce challenges, and build a culture of continuous development across the organization.

Customer Snapshot: Amsted

➔ Common as possible, different as needed

Learning champions from each unit teamed up to choose a central LMS that fit Amsted's decentralized structure and manage its global rollout.

➔ Flexible, intuitive administration

With Schoox, Amsted has a centralized LMS to support multiple training formats for diverse audiences via robust localization and multi-language features.

➔ Content integration streamlines training delivery

Integration with content allows Amsted to track course ratings and employee training through Schoox dashboards and reporting.

➔ Simplified compliance training

Given Amsted's presence in regulated industries, an LMS with robust compliance management, system security, and 24/7 provider support is essential.

➔ Integration Capabilities to Streamline Employee Experience

By linking Schoox with Amsted's core HR system and enabling Single Sign-on (SSO), employees can effortlessly access all systems.

➔ A foundation for skills-based career development

Looking ahead, Amsted plans to integrate skills-based talent development and use defined skill sets to grant machinery operation permissions.

Partnering with Schoox has been transformative for our organization. Their platform seamlessly integrates with our existing systems, providing a user-friendly and engaging experience for our employees. The flexibility and robust analytics have not only streamlined our L&D processes but also saved our team significant time, enabling us to focus on strategic initiatives."
